Note:- If the reported speech expresses a universal or habitual fact the tense of the reported speech does not change.

Rule-5 Conjunction that is commonly used while changing from direct to indirect speech.

e.g. He says, "I am going to Jap Jaipur."

Indirect:- He says that he is going to Jaipur.

Rule-6 Pronouns:-

1) First Person pronoun (I, we, me, us, ~~me~~ my, ~~our~~ us)

change according to the subject of reporting

उदा.

e.g. Mehak said, "I am tired."

1) Indirect: Mehak said that she was tired.

2) Second person pronoun (You, your) change according to the object of reporting verb.

e.g. Ram said to Ali, "You are late."

• Indirect: Ram told Ali that he was late.

3) Third person ~~pr~~ pronoun (he, she, it, they, him, his, her, etc) ~~do~~ not change.

e.g. They said, "He is watching a cricket match in the bedroom."

• Indirect: They said that he was watching a cricket match in the bedroom.

Rule 02 When the reporting verb is in the 'past' denoting time or place in reported speech change as follows.

Direct Speech

Indirect Speech

|           |                    |
|-----------|--------------------|
| This      | That               |
| These     | Those              |
| Here      | There              |
| Hence     | Thence             |
| Now       | Then               |
| Ago       | Before             |
| Thus      | So                 |
| Today     | That day           |
| Tomorrow  | The next day.      |
| Yesterday | The previous day   |
| Last Week | The previous Week. |

⇒ The ill effects of Mobile Phones.

Respected Principal, teachers and friends.

Good morning.

Today, I want to talk about the bad effects of mobile phones. We all love our phones, but using them too much is hurting our lives.

First, phones waste our time. Every time a phone pings, we stop studying to check it. This makes it hard to focus, and our school marks go down.

Second, phones ruin our health. Many of us stay up late looking at screens. This hurts eyes, gives us headache, and makes us feel tired in the class. We also sit inside all day instead of playing outside in the fresh air.

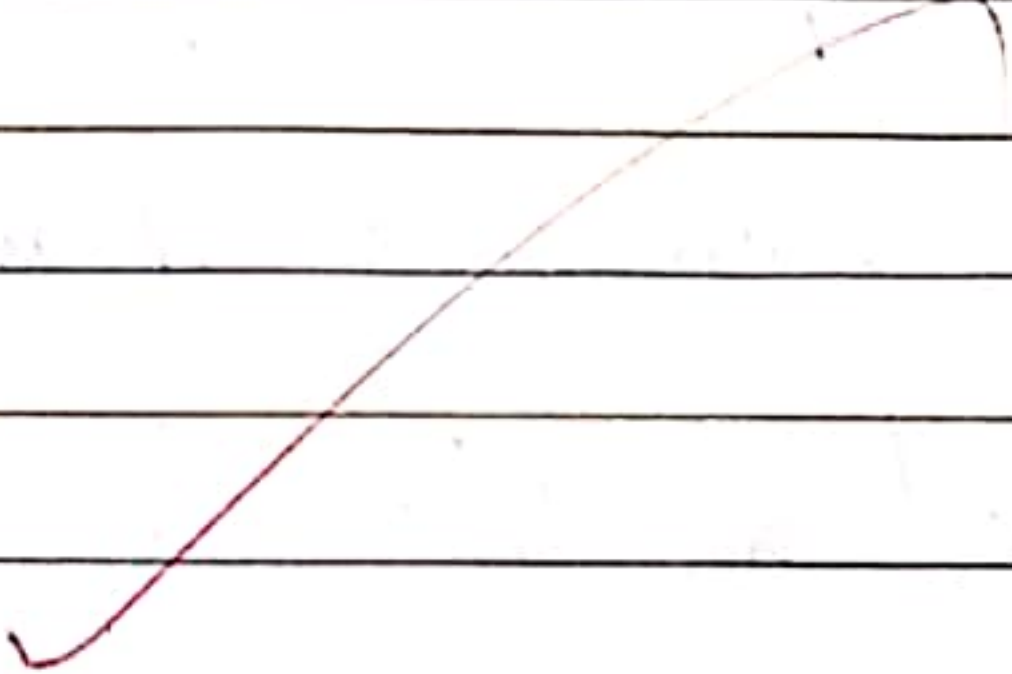

Lastly, screens separate us from real people. We are so busy talking to people online that we forget to talk to our family and friends in real life.

To end my speech, I want to say that phones are useful, but we must control them, let us promise to make the best use of mobile phones.

Thank you.

The menace of drug abuse

By .....

Drug abuse is a serious problem that affects individuals, families and society. It is especially harmful to the young people as it can damage their health studies and future.

There are many reasons why people become addicted to drugs. Peer pressure, bad company, curiosity, stress and lack of awareness are some common causes.

Drug abuse can lead to poor health, loss of concentration, weak academic performance and family problems. It may also make a person lose interest in studies and other healthy activities.

The problem can be prevented through proper awareness and guidance. Parents and teachers should educate children about the harmful effects of drugs. Students should avoid bad company and spend their time in sports, reading and other positive activities.

In conclusion, we must work together to create a healthy and drug-free society.
